Bertelsmann Cloud Curriculum – Now it's all about your cloud computing skills!

The cloud is literally ubiquitous today. In addition to Data and AI, Cloud Computing is one of the three pillars of the Bertelsmann Tech & Data Agenda. Especially in times of accelerated virtual networking, it connects us and allows us to access information and applications from anywhere. This requires specialists with the respective skills and knowledge of Cloud products and technologies. With the Cloud Curriculum, Bertelsmann University provides all Bertelsmann employees with a flexible and highest quality online learning experience that conveys these skills. Qualify yourself professionally and become an expert for the cloud – with learning content that suits your individual learning needs.

- // Learn with great practical relevance
- // Exchange information around challenges and best practices in communities
- // Work on your own projects

Who am I?

For your orientation, we have put together learning paths based on three cloud role profiles. These roles span across the entire “technology-to-business” spectrum.

- // Which cloud role you are aspiring as part of your professional development?
Which profile would you like to specialize in with a view to your future work?
- // Navigate through curated learning paths and boost relevant skills on the way to your respective expert profile
